Tioga County Jail Awards Black Creek Security System and CCTV Upgrade

Tioga County Jail, Owego, New York

Black Creek is pleased to announce that it has been awarded a contract to upgrade the Tioga County Jail Electronic Security Control System. The New York-based correctional facility is a direct supervision jail, with a rated capacity of 104 male and female inmates located in Owego, NY. Black Creek previously installed the existing security control system.

The system upgrade will include the removal of outdated security equipment, such as DVRs, intercom masters, and older generation workstation and server computers, and the installation and integration of a state-of-the-art Black Creek Super Display Touchscreen control system. Black Creek will furnish and install new components, including rack-mounted servers, desktop Touchscreen workstations, intercom equipment, digital video encoders, and network switches and converters; replace the existing Programmable Logic Controllers (PLCs); and provide programming enhancements. The upgrade will improve the officers' control throughout the facility, while increasing the operational efficiency. It will also ensure a greater degree of safety for inmates, officers, and visitors to the jail.
